November Navigations.....

HALO Havelock School Event.....

Brian Slater planned some very intricate courses at Havelock School for last Saturday's event.

Eight senior or seasoned orienteers were pitted against eight juniors, who amazed us with their enthusiasm for orienteering on a wet Saturday morning.

Results and report from Brian here,

LOG Boston Urban Event.....

Last Saturday also saw LOG hold a Boston urban event, as their new series of events got underway.

Brian Ward got the better of Charlotte, as they finished first and second on the long course. Pete Harris was feeling superstitious and missed out control No.13.

On the medium course Amanda Ward pipped Isoldt Harris for 6th place.

Loughborough Uni Campus.....

Sunday saw LEI use the University Campus for an urban event, the site had previously been the venue for the British Sprint Championships.

Charlotte Ward won the women's open, with Brian Ward finishing 2nd to Paul Murgatroyd on the men's vets. (since they're the same course, Charlotte was overall winner of the combined results)

Brian Hostad picked up the baton from Pete Harris to mis-punch, whilst Pete himself, was a creditable 10th on men's super vets. Amanda Ward finished 15th women's vets.

Looking Even Further Ahead.....

Next year HALO are to host the YHOA Middle Distance Championships at Knapton Wood on April 29th.

Brian Ward is planning the courses and a new map is being produced especially for the event.

May 2015 also sees the second Hull-O Weekend, with sprint and urban events over two days.

Saturday, AIRE start the YHOA Night League, with an event at Adel Woods Leeds.

Events Cntd.....

If you're not too hungover from the HALO awards dinner, Sunday sees DVO host an urban event at Oakwood Derby, or CLOK offer a level C event at Eston Moor.

Picture Gallery.....

The photos this week are of a rogue control seen near my house recently. I've no idea who put it there or what the event was!

My take on the poppies at the Tower of London and Brian's map of Havelock Academy.
