"Allo...Allo....."

This was my headline for last week's "last" newsletter, which should have been sent to you from south west France. But some dodgy WiFi, or "wiffy" as they call it and the need to stay within six feet of the swimming pool, put a stop to that edition. Anyhow, Happy Bastille Day everyone.

Lincolnshire Urban League.....

It looked like fun in the sun for the last two rounds of the LUL.

At the event in Brigg on Thursday 2nd July, Jeff Baker took the win on the medium course, to get within one point of Andy Barker-Pilsworth, but Jackie Edwards still topped the league table.

On the long course, Charlotte Ward won, meaning Liam Harrington couldn't get the clean sweep. So it all depended on the results at Skegness on the Saturday. There, on the long course Liam Harrington returned to his winning ways to take the Men's title. David Jolly and Wayne Byrne finished second and third, with Tanya Taylor taking fourth and the Women's title.

The medium course went right down to the wire, with Jeff Baker beating Andy B-P to take the Men's title whilst our own Jackie Edwards held on to take the Women's title. Well done Jackie. Final league positions here.

Other events.....

Whilst I was away a number of HALO members ran the EPOC Elland Urban, results can be found here. Interestingly, Chris Smithard (DEE) and Charlotte Ward both ran a short course for WOC2015 Sprint training.

Tomorrow (Weds) sees the final of the Sainsburys' School Games at Hymers College Hull. HALO will be in attendance, running the orienteering event, which sees Jacob Smith compete for the Vale of Ancholme Academy. I don't know at this stage if any other HALO juniors are competing for their schools.
